DEBATE IN THE SENATE.

NEED FOR MORE EASTERN SHIPS.

An interesting debate took place recently in the French Senate in connection with the estimate of the Department of Mercantile Marine.

M. Louis Serre, who acted as reporter in the matter of the estimates of the Department of Mercantile Marine, first made some suggestions in respect of the general policy to be followed by the Under-Secretary of State for the Mercantile Marine, who attended the sitting. He alluded to the word of another senator, Mr. Berenger: "The budget of the Department of Mercantile Marine has become a budget of subventions," and he pointed out that it was true that important and numerous subventions were provided for in the estimate of this department. Taking as an example the subventions granted each year to the big steamship companies, M. de Selves set forth that as a consequence of this financial assistance the Government was entitled to control the management of these firms, and he requested the Under-Secretary of State to make that control more efficient.

GOVERNMENT SHIP-OWNING.

M. Berenger further alluded to the opinion of Mr. Berenger and warned both the Government and Parliament against the growing tendency which aims at attributing to the State the function of administrator of private steamship companies. M. Berenger then alluded to the present organization of the Services Contractuels des Messageries Maritimes which was established by the agreement of December 20th, 1920, and was ratified by the law of July 28th, 1921. According to that agreement, the Government reserved for itself half the number of the functions of administrators and the company is now managed by this mixed board.

The chief criticism expressed by M. Berenger was that relative to the attempt which has been made towards the re-establishment of "etatisme," a regime, according to which the management of private industries is exercised by the State; although the real "etatisme" has not been organized in respect of the management of the Services Contractuels des Messageries Maritimes, M. Berenger stated, that a somewhat similar regime has been established which might be called a "semi-etatisme," going further into the question the senator pointed out the inconvenience of that organization; in case the representatives of the Government should constitute the majority on the board of the company, this latter would become a State organization, thus involving all the disadvantages which have been shown in the course of the war following the experiments made in the direction among which the State fleet was not the less important.

Supposing, on the contrary, that the representatives of the Government should be a minority on the board of the company, the Government would be compelled to give its assistance, both moral and pecuniary, to a company which it can hardly control. M. Berenger strongly censured the present organization of the Services Contractuels des Messageries Maritimes, and he proposed that the credit of 40 million francs asked for by the Department of Mercantile Marine for the management of the mail services of the company on the Far East, Australia, New Caledonia, Eastern Coast of Africa, and the Eastern Mediterranean lines should be reduced to 28 million francs.

THREE VESSELS PURCHASED.

M. Berenger then passed to another important question which has been the object of numerous discussions and comments in both parliamentary and shipping circles in the course of the last few weeks: the sale of three vessels of the Chargeurs Reunis to the Messageries Maritimes. These vessels are the Jamaïque, the Kerguelen and the Islande, all under completion at the yards of the Chantiers de la Loire. These vessels have a gross tonnage of 10,400 tons. The propelling machinery which consists of two reinforcing engines, develop 8,000 H.P. They were designed to be run for the transport of frozen meat on the Hamburg, Havre, Brazil and River Plate line of the Chargeurs Reunis. Passenger accommodation was provided for 138 first-class, 50 second-class passengers and 1,000 emigrants.M. Berenger strongly censured the Under-Secretary of State for Mercantile Marine for having agreed to that sale, which he considers as entirely unfavourable to the Messageries Maritimes. He said that while the sale price had been fixed at 21 million francs for each ship, i.e., 63 million for the three units, he was in a position to give evidence after consulting technical experts that the present value of these three vessels does not exceed 45 million francs. M. Berenger added that several millions of francs would have to be spent by the Messageries Maritimes in order to adapt these vessels to their new service on the Far East lines; as above stated they were formerly intended to be run on the South America lines, or the transport of frozen meat and emigrants. For this reason they cannot be compared, as suggested by the Under-Secretary of State, to the new passenger vessel Leconte de Lisle, of the Messageries Maritimes, which is to be run on the Indian Ocean line. While the vessels Jamaïque, Kerguelen and Islande have accommodation for about 1,000 emigrants, the Leconte de Lisle has accommodation for only 175 emigrants. On the other hand, while the capacity of the holds provided for the transport of frozen meat on board the three above-named vessels amounts to 0,500 cubic-meters, the capacity of similar spaces on the Leconte de Lisle amounts only to 500 cubic-meters. For this reason M. Berenger pointed out that in addition to the high price paid for these vessels, the consideration of their fitness for their new service constituted another argument against the operation. And the Senator concluded his strong attack by stating that "the Société Contractuelle des Messageries Maritimes should not be considered as the salvage society of companies which have been successful in their arrangements."

GOVERNMENT'S VIEWS.

M. Rio, Under-Secretary of State for the Mercantile Marine, replied to the criticism expressed by M. Berenger in a very comprehensive and persuasive speech: he first alluded to the price of 15 million francs which had been put forward by the senator as representing the present market value of each of the three vessels under review. He wondered how M. Berenger had been able to fix that price, and he pointed out that the price of a ship was not a well defined thing, as it depended upon several considerations. While it may be admitted that the price of a ship of her market price, M. Rio pointed out that the definition involved the condition that similar vessels might be found on the market. Otherwise the price of the vessel seems to be represented by the cost of construction, but in that case that price can hardly be determined at present owing to the considerable changes which are observed daily in the values of materials, the wages scales and other factors to be taken into account.

After submitting these considerations to the meditations of the Senate, M. Rio explained the conditions under which the purchase of three vessels from the Chargeurs Reunis came to be contemplated by the Messageries Maritimes.

THE INDO-CHINA LINE.

The Minister reminded his hearers that in order to comply with the provisions of the agreement entered into between the Government and the Messageries Maritimes, the latter had to establish regular services between France and Indo-China. To that effect old vessels such as the Armand Belin and the Chili were placed on that line and three ex-Russian vessels were chartered (Jaffa, Jerusalem and Odessa). But these vessels were foundto be that service, and the company had to decide that calls should be made at Haiphong by their new big vessels of the China and Japan lines. The delay involved by these calls caused a considerable prejudice to the company, which had to face a severe competition from certain foreign companies such as the Peninsular & Oriental and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. And it was then decided to purchase new vessels. The solution consisting in ordering new vessels was rejected as requiring a delay of about three years, and as the Chargeurs Reunis were willing to dispose of three vessels, the negotiation was at once started. The cost price of the three vessels as appears from the accounts amounts to 70 million francs. M. Rio said that that price was found too high by the Messageries Maritimes, who after making a comparison between the type of these vessels, at the Ecole de Lisle, proposed that the price of each vessel be fixed at 15 million francs. The Chargeurs Reunis maintained the price of 21 million, and after a strong request made by the Minister of the Colonies, who emphasized the urgent need of vessels on the Indo-China line, it was finally decided that the price asked by the Chargeurs Reunis should be accepted.

The Senate approved of the clear statement of M. Rio.

HONGKONG WEEKLY SHARE REPORT.

Messrs. Benjamin & Potts, in their Weekly Share Report, dated Friday, Aug. 31st, say:—

The local market has been duller during the period under review, owing to the inclement weather with very little business passing and slight variation in prices. Investment stocks are mostly in good request and readily saleable at quotations, but beyond this the market has been rather featureless. The Monthly Settlement was satisfactorily put through on Monday last.

The market in the North shows little change for Cotton stocks, but latest cables indicate that Langkats and Shanghai Docks are somewhat firmer.

Banks.—Hongkong and Shanghai Banks have fluctuated between 1,005 and 1,100, but at the close shares are obtainable at the former figure. The London price is £128 (middle).

Marine and Fire Insurances.—Cantons have strengthened with sales made up to $630. There are enquiries for Unions at $230, North Chinas at $140, China Fires at $130 and Hongkong Fires at $177.

Shipping.—Hongkong, Canton and Macao Steamboats have again come to business at $42. Preferred Indos are wanted at $181. Douglas Steamships have lapsed to a nominal quotation of $82.

Refineries.—China Sugars are offered at $214 after sales at this rate. Malabons have firmed up to $511.

Oils and Mining.—Deals have been made in "Shells" at the improved price 77½. Raubas were negotiated at $31, but have since receded to $5. Langkats have been in good demand and the rate has moved upwards to $131. Kailang after touching $17½ have fallen back to $9½.

Electric Companies.—Hongkong Trams have been taken off the market at $22.30 to $23.40. China Lights (Old) have been booked up to $14.90 and the New shares at $14½. Hongkong Electric are enquired for at $32, but none are to be had at this rate.

Docks, Wharves and Godowns.—Hongkong and Whampoa Docks fell away in the beginning of the week to $140, but a somewhat better demand for the shares has since improved the price to $152. An Interim dividend of $4 per share has been declared, payable on the 9th October. The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 30th September to the 9th October, both days inclusive. Hongkong and Kowloon Wharves have been sold at $150. Shanghai Docks have advanced to $180. Hongkong Wharves could be placed at $180 and New Engineering at $180.

Land, Hotels and Buildings.—Hongkong Lands have been the medium of business at $83½ to $87 and more are wanted at the latter rate. Princess Buildings have kept up to a buying quotation of $113. Humphreys Estates are in demand at $217 and Kowloon Lands at $83. Hongkong Hotels (Old) have been placed at $26, with buyers offering $25.10 at the close.

Cotton Mills.—Ewoa have been booked at $12½ and continue in request. Shanghai Cottons are saleable at $14. 50¢ cum rights and Orientals at $14.

Miscellaneous.—China Providents were dealt in at $24.10 in the early part of the week, but the price has since appreciated to $25.10. Green Island Cements have changed hands to a fair extent up to $23.40. An interim dividend of 50 cents per share has been declared, payable on 15th inst. The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 7th to the 18th inst., both days inclusive. Hongkong Ropes have been bought at $41½ and Union Waterboats at $17½. Hongkong Realty have been put through at $2.55 and Taxi Cabs at $5.10. There are buyers of Peak Trams at $14½. Watsons at $21½ and Sincers at $12½.

Forward Settlement Days.—27th Sept. (Thursday), 28th Oct. (Friday), and 27th Nov. (Tuesday), 1923.

Exchange.—The T.T. selling rate on London to-day is 2/3 and on Shanghai 7/1.

Rubbers.—According to telegraphic advices received from the Straits, the market for rubber shares is quite firm.

BOOKMAKING IN THE WEST END.

20 PER CENT. OF BAD DEBTS.

YEAR'S BETS, £116,048,000.

"If a tax were put on betting, bookmakers would reduce their odds and backers would then refrain from betting." This view was expressed to the Select Committee on taxation of betting (Mr. H. S. Cantley, K. C., M.P., presiding) by Mr. Alfred Heathorn, a bookmaker who carries on business in Piccadilly.

He said he attended all the main race meetings, at which practically all his business was done. That meant that every person betting with him must be known to him. His bad debts were about 20 per cent. of the winnings.

He saw no difficulty in his books being inspected for taxation. He thought stamped tickets for course betting might curtail his business 33 per cent.

The Chairman: As a bookmaker, are you in favour of a tax of 10 per cent. on bets? A 10 per cent. tax would be impossible.

Would taxation seriously injure your betting business?—I do not think it would providing there was legalisation with it.

That means that you would sue for your debts?—You must have some protection if you pay a tax.

Do you think that by paying income tax and super-tax bookmakers are taxed sufficiently?—Yes.

WHEN WISE MEN BET.

Remarking that he did not favour a tax on betting, Mr. Heathorn said that he would prefer a licence. He did not think the industry would stand a tax of 5 or 10 per cent. He estimated the bookmaker's profits at 2½ to 3 per cent. on turnover. Legalisation of ready-money betting in offices would, he thought, increase cash betting and diminish credit betting. It would be absolutely impossible for a licensed scheme to produce five millions a year.

Asked if people who betted with him did so on many races, he replied: "Some bet on every race, but others bet only on one or two races."

The Chairman: The wise men!—The wise men bet only on one race a day.

Mr. Forester Walker: If betting stopped would racing stop?—I should think so.

220-A-DAY MEN.

Mr. George Yates, a Leeds bookmaker and president of the Northern Bookmakers' and Backers' Racecourse Association, said the association was against a tax on betting, believing that bookmakers already paid sufficient in income tax. They also paid entertainments tax at meetings.

He estimated the total yearly amount staked in betting at £116,048,000 made up of—course betting, £25,729,000; office starting price betting, £54,320,000; and street and shop betting, £36,000,000. He pointed out, however, that the same money was turned over again and again and the £116,048,000 really meant a capital of 10 to 15 millions employed in betting. Whatever tax was put on the bettor would have to pay in the long run. Starting price offices did about 2½ times as much betting as took place on the course.

THE SHIPPING CONTROL.

WERE MOLLER & CO'S DIFFICULTIES DUE TO THE SHIPPING CONTROL?

GOVERNMENT'S STATEMENT AND MR. MOLLER'S REPLY.

A vital issue in the Shipping Control controversy is—Was the winding up of Messrs. Moller & Co. (Shanghai), Ltd., due to the Hongkong Control Scheme? The Official Report states that the Government has been unable to find any evidence in support of the allegation that it was. We print in parallel columns the statement in the Official Report and the reply made to it by Mr. Moller.

FROM THE "REPORT ON THE SHIPPING CONTROL"

The Government has not accepted the audited figures referred to by Mr. Moller, and it is its experience that expert opinion of the value of the subject matter of a claim varies very considerably according as the claim is made by or against the Government. The following figures may be quoted in this connection. The audited accounts in respect of two vessels gave $10,488 and $30,320 as actual losses sustained, exclusive of interest, over the period 16th April, 1918, to 31st January, 1919. These vessels were owned by two one-ship Companies whose balance sheet in respect of the year 1st February, 1919, to 31st January, 1919, showed in the one case profit for the year $84,045, remuneration to Directors and Auditor $5,424, and dividend of $375 per $50 share; and in the other case profit for the year $214,293, remuneration to Directors and Auditor $21,448, and dividend of $190.50 per $50 share, the capital being $40,000 and the steamer being written down to $20,000 in each case.

With regard to Mr. Moller's ships, his audited accounts, which have not been accepted by the Government, show loss sustained by owner exclusive of interest, $12,358 in respect of the Manipuri, and $19,134 in respect of the Cattlefield. Mr. Moller has not made any claim for loss in respect of the Manipuri. The total of the two claims is $31,492, against which there is a debt due by Mr. Moller to the Hongkong Government in the sum of $44,512, exclusive of interest. Almost the whole of this debt is due, not in respect of Mr. Moller's ships, but in respect of a sum paid in error by the Government to Messrs. Moller (Hongkong), Ltd., on account cargo carried in the s.s. Patrol.

As regards the Cattlefield, Messrs. Moller & Co. with the approval of the Shipping Control Committee, let the ship on a most advantageous charter for twelve calendar months from December, 1918. The charterer failed to take the vessel up, the Attorney-General of Hongkong joined with the Cattlefield Steamship Company as plaintiffs in an action against the charterer, judgment was obtained in a very large sum, and it is understood that the matter was finally settled on payment of between $100,000 and $400,000. The Hongkong Government made no claim in respect of the sum which would have been due to it up to the end of January, when its control terminated, but it did rely upon Mr. Moller's debt being paid out of that money. Even if Mr. Moller had discharged this debt, he would still have had a most substantial sum in hand.

The Government is unaware of the subsequent history of Mr. Moller's three ships: except that it is informed, though it cannot vouch for the fact, that the s.s. Wollara was sold for a much larger sum than the original purchase price; but it is unable to find any evidence in support of the allegation that the winding up of Messrs. Moller & Co. (Shanghai), Ltd., is in any way due to the Hongkong Control Scheme.

A PLEASANT HOLIDAY THROUGH SIBERIA COURTESY AND HOSPITALITY EVERYWHERE

Three members of the staff of the Peking Union Medical College, Mr. F. M. Exner, Mr. E. C. Scott and Mr. L. E. Sloan, have just returned to Peking after an interesting and unusual trip through Siberia, and report an extremely pleasant vacation.

Their route lay through Mukden, Harbin and Manchuria to Chita, the capital of the Far Eastern Republic before its absorption into the Russian Federated Socialist Republic. From there they continued by rail to Stretensk-Shilka system. The voyage down the Shilka to the Amur, and down this great river, past Blagoveshensk to Khabarovsk, a distance of nearly 1,500 miles, was made in sidewheel river steamers of good size. At Khabarovsk they resumed rail travel and went on to Vladivostok on the Trans-Siberian. After a stay in this city they came back to Peking via Harbin.

MR. MOLLER'S STATEMENT.

A considerable amount of stress has been laid by me on the point that the treatment was pitiless and relentless, and as a great number of those associated with the Control Scheme, both officials and vested interests, do not wish to realize or at any rate do not seem to realize the very critical position in which I have been placed, I think that much as I would like to withhold my own private affairs, I should offer the following explanation in the hope of convincing those responsible, as to the effect of their actions on one of my steamship companies.

The s.s. Manipuri was purchased by me just after the war started, and being an old vessel, she was refitted at Hongkong and the actual cost was just a little over $25,000, when ready for sea. She was not the type of the "crack" Butterfield & Swire or Jardine's coasting steamers, but rather an expensive boat for upkeep, with the result that during the earlier part of the war, she was running at a loss, and just prior to her being requisitioned, we were in a position to start recouping some of our previous original outlay and losses.

During our management of this vessel for the Hongkong Control Scheme, we were fortunate enough to secure for their account the only substantial time charter the vessel ever received, and as already mentioned, the net profits resulting were in the vicinity of $277,979.66.

The vessel was returned to us about the end of January, 1919, and immediately after such redelivery, these particular time charterers declared bankruptcy and the steamer was thrown back on our hands without any charter from that day until now, she has been throughout on a most unsatisfactory working basis, resulting eventually in the vessel being laid up at Hongkong for nearly the last two years.

It being foreseen that it was impossible to carry on further with the steamer, we were forced to put the company into liquidation, and the steamer was sold for $32,000.

The net result of my unfortunate association with this vessel was—

- 1.—I am a creditor of the Company to the amount of $88,442 (quite apart from my obligation under Clause 3).
- 2.—The proceeds of the sale were handed over to mortgagees, who carried a heavy lien on the vessel.
- 3.—I have covenanted with the mortgagees to be responsible for the difference between $32,000 and the original mortgage.
- 4.—The Hongkong Government have taken all the income that the steamer made.
- 5.—I have lost my entire outlay and my property.

This position can be verified if so desired. This is one of similar losses incurred by me in my business which is entirely shipping; and, any one who chooses to do so can realize that the profits now taken away by the Government Control Scheme are most essentially needed and that their loss is severely felt by me.

STEAMER ACCOUNTS PRESENTED TO THE COLONIAL GOVERNMENT.

These accounts showed very substantial losses during the control, but they were merely criticised and afterwards shelved without any further consideration.

I have substantially verified my position by figures taken out by the Hongkong Chartered Accountants, Messrs. Percy Smith, Seth and Fleming, and to put it mildly, if these figures are doubted and cannot be accepted by the Government, surely the present day position of shipping is quite sufficient and substantial proof that there must be something wrong somewhere.

All through Siberia they found the people courteous and helpful and very well-disposed towards foreigners. Everything was perfectly quiet and orderly, and there was no annoyance from the authorities of any kind. The trains on the Trans-Siberian Railway were running on regular, though not very fast schedules.

The express to Moscow runs only weekly, and to Vladivostok, by the all-Russian route, every other week, but other trains, running two, three and four times a week were quite all right and made long waiting unnecessary. The fares were low and the rolling stock quite good. The Amur steamers were especially comfortable and cheap, while the river scenery was splendid.

Calcutta is gripped by dengue, the outbreak being reported as the worst experienced for years. The medical officer says it is a mosquito-borne disease and that an anti-mosquito campaign should be conducted on a large scale.

LANDSLIDES.

Another big landslide occurred yesterday morning during the heavy rains at Castle Peak, which means that the Coastal road is blocked in one more place by some hundreds of tons of earth. It is said that it will take a considerable time to clear away the debris.

In Hongkong the report was circulated yesterday morning that a big boulder had rolled down the hillside from the Peak towards Conduit Road. This has not been confirmed by the Public Works Department.

A retaining wall of the Japanese mess in Bowen Road has collapsed owing to the excessive rain and we understand that anxiety is felt for the safety of other retaining walls in the same vicinity.

A MURDEROUS ATTACK. FOREMAN STABBED.

A foreman employed at the Rope Factory, Kennedy Town, was attacked by two men, yesterday morning, at the foot of the stairs of his house at No. 73, Belcher Street. The man was seized by one of his assailants and the other stabbed him five times, twice in the side, also in the leg, face and hand. The man shouted for help and his wife came running down stairs to the rescue. The assailants ran away, one towards the East and another to the West. The wounded man was removed to the Government Civil Hospital in a precarious state.

THE CHINA PONY.

A PROPOSAL TO BREED HIM AT SHANGHAI.

Dr. H. E. Keylock has given his opinion to the members of the Shanghai Race Club on the question of the creation of a Pony Stud Farm, in the vicinity of Shanghai. The doctor deals with the subject at considerable length, but the following are a few interesting extracts, taken at random, from his report.

More than half the pleasure of breeding animals is to watch them grow and develop, to compare the points of one with another, therefore the Stud should be accessible, and it is vital to the success of a Stud farm that the serving, trying and other stud details should be methodical whilst the feeding of the youngsters is all important. These points and advantages could not be attained in Mongolia—whereas they can be secured in a Stud Farm close to Shanghai. I confidently assert that the climate of Shanghai is more suitable than that of Mongolia for the breeding of ponies and that if there are any disadvantages in the soil or water (which I doubt) that these can be overcome.

There are, in my opinion, two reasons why the two Race Clubs should start a Stud. I cannot conceive that there is any other sound object in life than to secure the success of those who follow us, therefore as racing men we should do what we can to assist the rearing of the young who will succeed us. We are in a position to-day to start this Stud farm thereby giving our successors a sound and valid reason for racing and we could not leave them a better legacy than a pony breeding stud farm in running order. I submit to the younger generation that they should support the scheme because some of them must reap the benefit, and to the older members I suggest that racing has afforded them no such pleasure it devolves upon them to do everything in their power to secure that pleasure to the next generation. Probably every man who comes to China feels that he is certain to make his fortune and that he will not be here for very long. To many that dream does not come true and to the true racing man who has to or wishes to remain here, the breeding of his racing stock would at least give him another interest in life. A breeder always wants to go one better than the last—it is an interest that lasts a man for life, and one of which he never tires or willingly abandons.

It is not suggested that the Race Clubs' Stud Farm should attempt to cross the China pony with any other breed but simply to breed from the best obtainable old fashioned China ponies—the best being defined by those animals which have speed, stamina, soundness and courage as proved by the race course test. The China pony has many desirable characteristics, particularly stamina, courage, and weight carrying capabilities, all qualities that are sought for in horse flesh, and I venture to think this original breed should be preserved. To the Shanghai community he fills the place of the horse in every capacity from the rice course to the Municipal cart. I know no other breed of horse, except the thoroughbred horse (and he would be barred from polo) which could fill all the roles that a China pony can. In addition he is undoubtedly the finest mounted infantry pony in the world. Because the China pony possesses all the above qualities is in my opinion quite a sufficient reason why the Shanghai Race Clubs should attempt to preserve the breed from outside influences and create a China Pony Stud Book.

"To my mind the whole scheme is worthy of the fullest support from every racing man—it must appeal to all those who have the true interests of the pony at heart."

THE ARMS TRAFFIC.

BIG ORDERS GIVEN IN HONGKONG BY DR. SUN'S AGENTS.

THE CASE AGAINST DODWELL & CO.'S ASSISTANT COMPRADORE.

Sensational disclosures were made at the Magistrate's yesterday morning by Mr. F. C. Jenkin (Barrister-at-Law) who is defending Yue Man Hon, described as the assistant compradore of Messrs. Dodwell and Company. Mr. Jenkin's story related to large deals in arms arranged in Hongkong for the equipment of Dr. Sun Yat Sen's armies.

When the case was adjourned last Tuesday the Magistrate (Mr. J. R. Wood) said that he would like to look through certain documents which were seized by the police in the assistant compradore's office at the time of his arrest, before deciding whether the case was one for commitment to the Criminal Sessions.

Yesterday when the case was resumed the Captain Superintendent of Police (Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe) appeared in Court on behalf of the prosecution, in addition to Mr. T. H. King (Deputy Superintendent of Police) who, up to yesterday, had conducted the prosecution.

Mr. Wolfe explained to the Magistrate that he appeared in connection with an application from the police asking for the commitment of the defendant, and the Magistrate said he had no objection to Mr. Wolfe appearing at that late stage, explaining at the same time that the case for the Crown was closed.

At this stage Mr. Jenkin asked permission for another document to be put in, and Mr. King was recalled to give evidence as to the document. He said that this document was found on August 14th in the possession of one of the Frenchmen now in custody. The original of this document bore the signature of the defendant.

Mr. Wolfe then addressed the Court at some length on the subject of his application for commitment. He commenced by stating that he had received a letter from the First Clerk of the Magistrate, stating: "I am directed to inform you that his Worship (Mr. J. R. Wood) has read the documents in connection with the case of Yue Man Hon, and subject to any remarks from the Captain Superintendent of Police, he would assume summary jurisdiction in the matter." He now appeared to ask his Worship to commit the defendant on the following grounds: The defence had put in documents to show that the defendant was a dealer in arms outside the Colony. At least one of the two arms found in the possession of the defendant—a "Luger"—corresponded to the "Luger" pistols which were constantly passing through the Colony, and which he had every reason to believe were the same arms as are used in the Chinese armies. They all knew that the Mauer and Luger pistols are used by the Chinese armies and they were called rifles. He maintained that the weapons they would call a rifle would cover a Luger pistol when the special butt was attached to it. It was obvious therefore that smuggling on a very large scale was at present going on. That was his first point.

The next point was the onus of showing that the defendant came by these arms honestly. They were obviously not for self-defence. No Chinese applicant had ever made application to carry arms of this sort. In all his experience, as Chief of the Police no application to carry an arm of that length had been considered by him. They were similar to the arms used by hired assassins to commit crime—such as the Wo Ping murder.

Continuing, Mr. Wolfe said this type of weapon (the Luger) was used to shoot the actor in the Wo Ping Theatre case. The other weapon was a similar type to the one used against Mr. Chan Wing Sun, son of the ex-Governor of Canton, who was shot near Glenale recently. He was shot in the back and still alive was now paralysed. If the defence said he got these arms for self-protection then why did he want two? If, on the other hand, they said they were samples, the police wanted to know where he got them from and if his transaction was legitimate. Nothing was found in the documents in connection with these arms and it was up to the defendant to say how he came by them; to produce orders covering the transaction, giving the name of the persons from whom they were received and to whom they were to be delivered. It was absolutely essential to the police to get a skin to this illicit traffic if they were to succeed in putting a stop to armed robberies, political murders and the shooting of the police.

The defendant had said he was keeping them for a friend. "If your Worship is going to accept that view after taking into consideration the recent public speeches which have resulted in fresh legislation embodying severe penalties to all those found in possession of arms without a permit, it is quite apparent that the man should be dealt with summarily; but I would point out that your Worship would be taking a grave responsibility in dealing with the case summarily. If he is keeping these arms for somebody else then, I submit, he was keeping them for a consideration; and the smallest fine would be $1,000 with the alternative of six months' hard labour. The documents show that he is dealing in large figures. It is evident that this is the type of man the police want to get locked up. If the dupes of these men are caught and dealt with severely why should not the men who provide the sinews of war be dropped on too?"

Mr. Wolfe concluded his remarks by saying that the defendant should be committed to the Supreme Court.

The Magistrate: So you don't think 12 months will be sufficient for the offence?

Mr. Wolfe: No, your Worship; that is my view. Twelve months will not meet the case.

Mr. Jenkin, replying to Mr. Wolfe's application for commitment, said that he agreed with much that had been said by the Captain Superintendent of Police. He quite agreed it was up to any person found in possession of arms to satisfy the police as to how he came to be in possession of the arms, and his reasons for having the arms. If the defence was unable to do so, then it was obviously a very serious case. The Captain Superintendent of Police had thought fit to make a number of statements which were not warranted. They might be correct, probably they were, owing to information in his official possession, but he could only say that he hoped the Magistrate would not take any notice of such statements unless they were substantiated in evidence. He regretted the making of these statements for the reason that if the case did go to the Sessions the words used by Mr. Wolfe would not be lost upon a Jury. In a small community of this kind the considered opinion of the Captain Superintendent of Police that this man supplied arms to hired assassins would not go unpassed.

The only object of committing the defendant would be to obtain a higher sentence, but upon the evidence adduced by the Crown the offence amounted to that of mere possession of two "newish" small arms wrapped up in paper and cloth and not accompanied by ammunition. He could not conceive why the Captain Superintendent of Police did not produce the documents in Court. If he (Mr. Jenkin) had not called for them they would not have been produced and these documents explained the circumstances under which the defendant came into possession of the arms.

With regard to the Captain Superintendent's submission that the arms found were rifles, there was not evidence of that. He understood that the documents had been translated at the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, and therefore the translation would be of the very best authenticity. It was inevitable that the Captain Superintendent of Police should speak of revolvers as rifles when the word "bayonets" was used in the same documents. This, he thought was probably due to the superficial way in which Mr. Wolfe had read them. The defendant would be able to explain the whole matter.

The Magistrate expressed the view that the case was one for summary jurisdiction.

Mr. Wolfe: In which case I apply for the case to be before two Magistrates. He went on to say failing that he would apply for the case to be sent to the Sessions under Section 5 of the new Arms Ordinance which came into force that day. The new Ordinance had not yet been published in Orders but he expected it would be during the course of the afternoon. At any rate it came into force from midnight.

The Magistrate said that as regards the first point he had discretion in the matter, seeing that the case was partly heard.

Asked by Mr. Wolfe if he refused the application for the case to be heard before two Magistrates, his Worship said he did. This led Mr. Wolfe to state that he would like to add a fresh charge under the new Ordinance which meant that defendant would be committed.

Mr. Jenkin said the only way this could be done was by withdrawing the present charge of unlawful possession.

Mr. Wolfe: In that case I propose to withdraw the present charge against him. His Worship pointed out the danger of doing this, stating that it might establish a case of autrefois acquit, which point would have to be considered.

The new charge was dropped, and it was decided to deal with the defendant summarily.

Mr. Jenkin then proceeded to outline his case for defence and, in doing so, said he would make no comments on what Mr. Wolfe had said. He said he would take the liberty to open the case at some length. The defendant, he said, would not be an altogether satisfactory witness as the efforts of the police to obtain his commitment had not left him in that sense of ease in which he would otherwise have been. He had had conversations with him and he found that his conversational powers in English were not too good, due no doubt to lack of contact during recent years.

The defendant was the assistant compradore in Messrs. Dodwell and Company. He received the final part of his education in England and was there for eight or nine years, four years of that time being spent in the London office of his present firm. Most of the Yue family were engaged in Dodwell's office in Hongkong. His father, Yue Yak Chi, was their compradore, and he recently became a member of the Central Government of China under Dr. Sun Yat Sen. This young man in July of last year was appointed an advisory officer of troops to Dr. Sun. He was further engaged in political matters concerning the Government of China. He was also engaged to the daughter of Mr. Wong Hing, widow of the late General Wong Hing (a pro-Sun General) who, since her husband's death, had been acting as agent for Dr. Sun.

The defendant came into the picture some three months ago, at the same time as the two Frenchmen also made their appearance. Mrs. Wong Hing generally resided in Shanghai, but three months ago she was in Hongkong. The two Frenchmen were known to Mrs. Wong Hing in Shanghai and she gave the address of the defendant to these men telling them if they wished to see her she could always be found through the defendant. At that time Mrs. Wong Hing was staying in the Nam King Hotel, next to the Wing On Store. An interview took place there as the result of which it appeared that a contract had been entered into between these two Frenchmen, one of whom spoke English, and the Canton authorities. The contract was for the supply of rifles. The period occupied for this was about two months. Later another contract was entered into with a representative of General Lau Chu Wan—a Kwangsi General. He sent a representative to Hongkong to arrange the matter.

The Magistrate: He is on the opposing side?

Mr. Jenkin: No, he is pro-Sun.

Continuing, Mr. Jenkin said as a result of this, a document was prepared and signed by one of the Frenchmen—"I think his name is Faravel"—Mrs. Wong Hing and the defendant. The defendant's name appeared on the document as the "recommender," which was probably the equivalent for guarantor. Other contracts were made between Mrs. Wong Hing, the defendant and other men whereby rifles were to be bought for $35 and re-sold to the Canton authorities for $48—a scale of profit which was not unprecedented. That profit was shared by Mrs. Wong Hing and another man, called Tseng, who was the man sent down by the General of the Kwangsi forces. By arrangement 4,000 of the rifles were to be delivered at Boca Tigris and the balance of 2,000 were to be delivered at Kongmoon. The Frenchmen, it appeared, were not satisfied with the order and refused to make delivery. A third official then appeared on the scene in the person of General Li Fuk Lam who wanted to buy over the 6,000 rifles. He sent a representative, named Choi, to Hongkong to see the defendant, who took him to Mrs. Wong Hing at the Tokio Hotel. Later the General entered into the negotiations personally, and as a result it was arranged that the 6,000 rifles should be delivered to Kwangtung.

The Frenchmen were then approached about another contract for 8,000 rifles, and they were informed that these could not be made within four months. The contract was not made as the time required to supply the arms was too long. So that nothing was delivered under this new proposed contract. The defendant at the various interviews acted as interpreter, and it would appear that he got to know the Frenchmen intimately. One of these Frenchmen had called at the defendant's office and asked if there was any possibility of fixing up a small arms contract with the Canton officials. The defendant said he would see what could be done and asked if they had any samples of the small arms they proposed to sell. The Frenchmen later came into the office and produced a parcel containing three weapons, two of which were in Court and the third was a Mauer. It was explained by one of the Frenchmen that he was regularly supplied with Mauer's and that they usually shipped them through at about 300 a time. The price of the Mauer was $55 each plus $5 extra for delivery into Kwangtung. The price for the others was $75 each and a further $5 for delivery into Kwangtung. A Chinese named Yue Chak Po, an uncle of the defendant and a partner in the King On firm, was present when the Frenchmen were there. This gentleman was interested as he has three licences for arms from the police. One for his house, one for his office and one to carry about.

Mr. Wolfe smiled at this information and Mr. Jenkin added: I suppose they (the arms) will be taken away at tiffin time.

Continuing, Mr. Jenkin said that Yue Chak Po said the parcel being put into the drawer of the defendant's desk, and he pointed out the danger of keeping the arms on the premises but the Frenchmen prevailed on him to keep the arms. On the following day the defendant saw Choi, representing General Li Fuk Lam; but as the price was too high no bargain was struck in small arms. If a contract had been arranged Mrs. Wong Hing was to receive $3 per small arm. The Frenchmen were told that nothing had been arranged and the defendant asked them to take away the revolvers. They pointed out that it was a lot of "hobbery" about keeping guns. They said they were going away with the French mail boat and they withdrew the Mauer which the defendant gave to them in a cardboard box and like a fool he held on to the revolvers.

It had been said that there were no papers to connect the revolvers up with the dealings. He said there were papers found in the defendant's pocket by the police and he could not understand why these had not been put in. He asked Mr. King to produce two slips of paper found in the defendant's pocket. This was done and they were put in as exhibits in the case.

The first of these slips of paper, said Mr. Jenkin, had the words "Belgium (5)" "Espagnol" (6) mauer. When these words were written the defendant did not understand the meaning of the word "Espagnol" and they wrote underneath "Manufactured in Spain." The defendant would explain why the figures five and six were there. The other little slip stated: "Next shipping 15th-28th August about 300 respect."

Referring to the Frenchmen, Mr. Jenkin said that their evidence, if they were brought into the case, would help to corroborate his remarks in regard to the defendant's activities as a dealer in arms which had no connection with this Colony. But it was inconceivable that they would be willing to give that evidence, as they would be convicting themselves from their own mouths. He understood that these men were being detained with a view to later getting rid of them from the Colony. In conclusion, Mr. Jenkin repeated that the revolver and pistol in respect of which the defendant was charged were left by the Frenchmen as samples, with a view to further business with the Canton officials.

The Magistrate fixed the afternoons of the 10th and 11th September on which to hear the evidence of the defendant.

TYPHOON MEMORIAL SERVICE.

CATHEDRAL CEREMONY.

A short service was conducted at St. John's Cathedral yesterday evening in memory of those who met with their deaths in the recent typhoon. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. Copley Moyle, assisted by the Rev. Mr. G. T. Waldegrave (Chaplain to the Seamen's Mission). His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Capt. Neville, was in attendance. The service opened with the hymn "Peace perfect peace." Prayer was offered up on behalf of those who had died, particular mention being made of the officers and men who perished in the s.s. Loong Sang. The hymn "Eternal Father strong to save" and an anthem by the choir were also rendered, and the service concluded with the "Dead march in Saul." Amongst those present at the service were Commodore and Mrs. Grace, Hon. Mr. A. G. M. and Mrs. Fletcher, Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax, Mr. D. G. M. Bernard, the Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, Sir William Rees Davies, Mr. R. Sutherland, and Sir Robert Ho Tung.

THE DAMAGED MAIL.

The following particulars of the mail received in Hongkong on August 29th ex s.s. President Grant—a mail which had suffered very great damage owing to an outbreak of fire on board the ship—has been forwarded by the Postmaster-General (Mr. R. E. Lindell):—

The mail received by the Post Office from the s.s. President Grant comprised 395 bags only out of the 431 bags advised on the Way Bills, the shortage of 36, including 37 bags for Hongkong and 9 for Canton. It is expected, however, that a number of the missing bags will be received on the return of the ship from Manila.

The letter mails were all intact, but the newspaper, etc., and parcel mails were in most cases so badly damaged by fire and water as to make their contents worthless.

The figures for the whole mail for Hongkong and Canton are as follows:—

HONGKONG CRICKET LEAGUE ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Hongkong Cricket League was held at the Hongkong Cricket Club pavilion last evening, Mr. G. R. Sayer presiding.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the various clubs interested in League cricket.

The report and balance-sheet of the league, prepared by the acting hon. secretary (Mr. Owen Hughes) was adopted on the motion of the CHAIRMAN, seconded by Mr. F. J. Ling. The reported showed that 11 teams competed in the "A" Division last season and six in the "B" Division. The former was won by the University and the latter by the Indian R.C.

The accounts show a credit balance of $257.50.

On the motion of Mr. E. J. R. Mitchell, seconded by Mr. J. P. Robinson, Sir Claud Severn and Mr. G. R. Sayer were unanimously elected President and Vice-President of the League for the ensuing year. Mr. H. Owen Hughes was elected Hon. Secretary and Treasurer on the motion of the CHAIRMAN, seconded by Mr. J. P. Robinson.

The meeting then spent a considerable time in revising the existing rules of the League. The most important of the changes adopted were: That the Committee in future shall consist of the President, Vice-President and one representative from each Club competing in the League. The old rule was to the effect that the officers serving on the committee should be elected at the annual general meeting. The rule imposing a fine of $1 on clubs failing to send in the results of the matches to the Secretary of the League before a specified time was cancelled.

The entries for this season's league were later dealt with. These are as follows:—"A" Division—Kowloon C.C., Hongkong C.C., Chinese R.C., C.S.O.C., Navy, Indian R.C., Royal Engineers, and the University (two home and two away matches to be played in each case).

"B" Division—Kowloon C.C., Hongkong C.C., Chinese R.C., C.S.O.C., Navy, Indian R.C., Royal Engineers, and the University (two home and two away matches to be played in each case). This was all the business of public interest.

PROVISION FOR LIFE SAVING.

THE replies given by the Government in the Legislative Council on Thursday to the questions put by the Hon. Mr. POLLOCK, K.C., on the subject of making permanent provision for saving life in the harbour in bad weather, leave the matter in a very unsatisfactory position. Hongkong, one of the most important shipping ports in the world, liable as it is in the summer time to visitation by destructive typhoons, is without any provision for life saving in bad weather save that an arrangement exists with the Naval authorities whereby two Naval tugs are made available to assist in towing native craft when they are in danger of being unable to make for shelter on their own account. We have no high-powered lifeboats available for service in a storm, and not even a stock of rockets with life-saving lines attached at any point along the harbour front, either on the island or at Kowloon. In the recent typhoon it was widely felt that many lives might have been saved had these means of life-saving existed. Yet the Government was advised after the 1900 typhoon, and again by a Committee of Shipping men in 1913, that rocket life-saving apparatus would not serve a useful purpose in a harbour like Hongkong, and a Committee appointed in 1920 "to consider the question of making provision for the protection of life and property in the harbour during typhoon weather" did not see fit to recommend the use of a rocket apparatus. When the Government's reply to the Hon. Mr. POLLOCK deals with the subject of lifeboats it tells us that a Committee in 1913 recorded the opinion that there was no work within the scope of a life-boat which could not equally well be carried out by tugs and launches provided with life-lines. It might have added that another Committee—or rather a majority—in 1920 endorsed that view by resolving to make no recommendation in favour of life-boats, but it would have been rather inconvenient to mention that in the reply given by the Government to the Hon. Mr. POLLOCK's questions because it would have been necessary to add that Captain BASIL TAYLOR, R.N., the Harbour Master at that time, dissented from that decision of the Committee, and it is stated in the Report itself that "Capt. TAYLOR in dissenting expressed the view that there was ample justification for the provision of such lifeboats: though the provision of a shelter for small boats at the west end of the harbour might lead him to modify his opinion." In a minute attached to the Report of the Committee Capt. TAYLOR sets out his reasons for dissenting from the Committee's resolve to make no recommendation in the matter of lifeboats. He wrote: "There is no doubt that many native craft founder during typhoons not in the harbour before assistance can be rendered to them, and the crews are generally drowned. The tugs proposed to be used for towing purposes are not suitable for picking up men in the water; they are not sufficiently handy, are of too high freeboard to make it easy to reach a man in the water, and get him on board, they could not lower boats to pick them up as no ordinary boat could exist in the heavy sea, and they would be apt to do more harm than good in this direction, by injuring the men they want to save, with the propellers and rubbing streaks. The same objections apply to the Chinese launches which are big enough to be of use for towing. The motor life-boats I propose are specially fitted for life-saving work, and that by reason of their not being suitable for towing, while tugs, by reason of their being designed for towing, are not adapted for life-saving."

We have quoted this minute fully because it shows that while the Committee did not support the plea of the former Harbour Master for motor life-boats, it nevertheless recognised the need for some provision being made for life-saving. It would be interesting to know what has been done by the Government towards carrying out the recommendations made by this Committee three years ago. The Committee recommended that the Government should provide "at least two tugs of about 100ft. in length and 500 to 750 h.p., whose first duty should be the protection of life and property in typhoon weather. In addition, that the Naval Authorities and other owners of suitable tugs be approached to permit them to assist as soon as they can be spared from their own proper duties: the provision of at least two Government tugs being essential, as no others are likely to be available for outside work for some little time after the necessity has arisen."

In the matter of the Shelters the Committee recommended the sub-division of the Yau-mai Shelter into three sections, observing that "as it stands at present, it is wide enough for quite a serious sea, offers no opportunity for smaller boats to be inter-locked, as they are unable to fill any one section of the shelter. The division would break the sea and would give the smaller boats the opportunity they require." The Report mentioned that the floating population of the harbour was strongly of opinion that sub-division of the shelter was absolutely necessary if much damage among the craft was to be averted in a serious typhoon. Experience in that shelter in the recent typhoon confirmed this view. Another recommendation made unanimously by the Committee was for the provision of a second shelter in Belcher's Bay, to provide a refuge for craft unable to make head against an Easterly wind. It was stated that the record of wrecks at the West end of the harbour showed the need of such a shelter. Again, the appointment of a permanent Board to deal with executive details and such questions as would from time to time arise was recommended by the Committee "as a matter of importance." But beyond the arrangement made with the Naval authorities for the services of two tugs in typhoon weather, not a single recommendation made by that Committee would appear to have been carried out by the Government. Of what use is it appointing Committees of Inquiry if the recommendations they make are to be disregarded? Since the Government has quoted from Reports by Committees to justify the non-provision of life-boats and rocket apparatus (notwithstanding that the Harbour Master of three years ago, strongly advocated the provision of motor-life-boats), it would be interesting, we believe, to a considerable number of people to know when some official announcement may be made as regards the fate of the other recommendations?

The s.s. Kwongyip which went ashore at Stonecutters during the big typhoon was successfully refloated yesterday.

Foundations are expected to be laid this month for the new Hongkong and Shanghai Bank building, on Victoria Road, Tientsin.

Mr. E. M. Hazeland, architect and surveyor, has admitted Mr. Ugo Gonella into partnership and the business will in future be carried on under the style of Hazeland and Gonella.

A land-slide has undermined Findlay Path, Tai Pak, and deposited about 300 tons of earth against the walls of "The Farm," which had already received considerable damage in the typhoon of August 15th.

We are informed that, in reply to a preliminary inquiry, Hongkong Development, Building and Savings Society, Ltd., now in course of foundation, has received 1,400 applications from persons wishing to build houses for themselves.

The attention of golfers is directed to an advertisement in another column which states that both courses at Fanling are unavoidably closed until further notice, and that the Captain's Cup qualifying round is held over until further notice.

Telegraphic advice has been received by the Admiral Oriental Line to the effect that silk shipped per s.s. President McKinley, which sailed from this port on August 2nd, at 10 A.M. arrived in New York on August 25th, at 6 A.M. Total time en route 22 calendar days 20 hours.

The rain of the last few days has brought the rainfall for the year to 12 inches above the average. The total rainfall since the 1st of January is 78.00 inches against an average of 65.92 inches. In the last four days we have had over 15 inches of rain. Even the Tatum Tuk reservoir has been overflowing during the past few days.

The Commissioner of Public Health at Shanghai is continuing his crusade against ice-cream "unfit for human consumption." Three Chinese ice-cream vendors were prosecuted in the Mixed Court last week and fined five dollars each. In his last monthly report the Commissioner states: "Owing to the very unsatisfactory character from a bacteriological point of view, and the consequent serious menace to health by intestinal infections, of practically all samples of ice-cream taken from retailers for analysis in the Laboratory, special investigations were made as to the possibility of a careful and conscientious ice-cream manufacturer being able to produce a pure article. It was demonstrated on the premises of the manufacturers, that a perfectly safe ice-cream, practically sterile, could be produced, under the supervision of the Health Inspectors when their instructions were carefully carried out. For safeguarding the health of the public, as far as possible, a list of manufacturers whose ice-creams are found unfit for human consumption will be published periodically in the Municipal Gazette. Samples of ice-cream from the following licensed premises were examined in the Municipal Laboratory during the week ending August 16th, and found unfit for human consumption. Cafe Cecil, Navy Y.M.C.A., and Chinese Y.M.C.A."

WEDDING.
MARTIN—CRAIK.

At St. John's Cathedral yesterday the marriage took place of Miss Enid Mabel Craik, second daughter of the late Mr. J. R. Craik and Mrs. Craik, North London, to Mr. A. J. J. Martin, eldest son of the late Mr. T. H. Martin, Hongkong, and Mrs. Crispin, Kowloon.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. H. Copley Moyle. The bride was given away by Mr. G. R. Holloway and Mr. A. Ritchie was best man. The bride wore a dress of white tulle and carried a bouquet of Canton lilies, ginger lilies, and maidenhair fern. The bridesmaids were Miss Marjorie May Martin, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Millie Kinross. The honeymoon is being spent on the China coast.

GOVERNMENT VACCINATION.

[TO THE EDITOR OF "THE HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR.—The Attorney-General in introducing the New Vaccination Ordinance, states that some of the reasons for doing so are that at present: (1) The person vaccinated pays for it; (2) There is a danger of giving commissions; (3) Certificates are given by persons who do not perform the operation; (4) The signature of the vaccinator is not always given.

In reply I would point out: (1) That labourer is worthy of his hire; (2) (3) (4) These offences are adequately dealt with in the case of Registered Medical Practitioners by the General Medical Council, and if the Government have evidence that in any things are done, they have failed in their duty to the Public in not notifying the same to the General Medical Council.

Further I would point out that the Public Vaccinator, who is not a registered Medical man, is a creation of the Government, and was instituted against the advice of the Medical Board. His sins, if any, should not be used as an excuse for the Government to compete with private Medical men, at the expense of the Public, whose health is unaffected by the emigrant, who leaves the Colony—I am, Yours faithfully,

G. E. AUBREY.

ANOTHER SERAJEVO?

DANGER OF LIGHTED TORCHES IN THE BALKANS.

LONDON, August 30th.

The danger of flaming lighted torches into the Balkans was no more serious in the days of Serajevo than to-day, when the Lausanne Treaty has left neither the Turks nor the Greeks completely satisfied. Bulgaria is deeply disappointed at being deprived of an outlet to the sea and the adjustment of the Albanian frontiers is arousing jealousies.

A keen realisation of this fact is reflected in London editorials, which, with singular unanimity, while sympathising with Italy's indignation and anger, deplore Premier Mussolini's precipitancy and severity as seriously threatening European peace.

PRESS DEMANDS FOR REFERENCE TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The newspapers especially question the justice of the assumption that the Greek Government is in anywise responsible for the crime, in the absence of attested evidence.

There is a chorus of demands that the issue shall be referred to the League of Nations. Most opportunistly a meeting of the League is to be held to-day.

HOW FAR WILL MUSSOLINI GO?

The more sober commentators believe that Signor Mussolini will not proceed to the lengths his words suggest. Nevertheless, there are disquieting reports of anti-Greek demonstrations throughout Italy, and rumours to the effect that secret orders have been given to the Italian fleet have produced an atmosphere of anxiety. There is a deal of suspense as to the nature of Mussolini's next move.

GREEK STEAMER DETAINED BY ITALIAN AUTHORITIES.

ROME, August 30th.

Newspaper advices from Brindisi state that the Greek steamer Urania, which should have sailed for Greece yesterday evening, has been detained by the Authorities.

ITALIAN STEAMER ORDERED NOT TO TOUCH AT GREEK PORTS.

The Italian steamer Adria, which cleared for Levant ports, has been ordered to proceed direct to Constantinople without touching at Greece.

OPINIONS OF DELEGATES TO THE AMBASSADORS' CONFERENCE.

PARIS, August 30th.

Le Matin states that the Allied delegates to the Ambassadors' Conference were not all agreed regarding the measures to be adopted in connection with the Janina murders, especially respecting the penalties and reparation to be demanded.

The British representative raised certain objections to individual action on the part of the Italian Government, thereby forestalling the action of the conference.

EARLIER CABLES.

GREECE ACCEPTS FOUR DEMANDS.

ATHENS, August 30th.

Greece has replied to Italy accepting her four demands, with modifications. Firstly, the commandant of the place will express the Greek Government's sorrow to the Italian Minister; secondly, a memorial service will be held in the presence of members of the Government; thirdly, the same day a detachment of the Guard will salute the Italian flag at the Legation; fourthly, the military will render honour to the remains of the victims when they be transferred to an Italian warship. The other demands are rejected on the ground that they infringe the sovereignty and honour of Greece.

ANXIETY FELT IN EUROPEAN CAPITALS.

LONDON, August 30th.

The European capitals are anxiously watching the developments of the Greco-Italian crisis. Authoritative opinion in London and Paris is relying on the Conference of Ambassadors, which has appointed a frontiers delimitation commission to settle the dispute.

ATHENS, August 30th. The Government is indisposed to accept the humiliating conditions, and will propose in the event of a deadlock that they submit the matter to the League of Nations.

PARIS, August 30th. The papers sympathise with Italy's indignation, but consider her action too precipitate.

GRECO-ITALO CRISIS.

AMBASSADORS' CONFERENCE PROTESTING.

PARIS, August 30th.

The Ambassadors' Conference have decided to telegraph to the British, French and Italian Governments asking them, in view of the gravity of the situation to join in an energetic protest against the assassinations in Albania, and inviting the Greek Government to open an inquiry.

ITALY RATHER HASTY.

LONDON, August 30th.

It is stated here that the Ambassadors' Conference Note has been despatched to Greece.

The general impression in responsible quarters in London is that Italy has been rather hasty, and that the terms of the ultimatum are unduly severe.

EUROPEAN CAPITALS ANXIOUSLY WATCHING DEVELOPMENTS.

LONDON, August 30th.

The European capitals are anxiously watching developments in the Greco-Italian crisis.

Authoritative opinion in London and Paris is relying upon the Conference of Ambassadors, which appointed the frontier delimitation commission to settle the dispute.

HUMILIATING CONDITIONS UNACCEPTABLE TO GREECE.

ATHENS, August 30th.

The Government is not disposed to accept the humiliating conditions, and they will propose, in the event of a deadlock, to submit the matter to the League of Nations.

MUSSOLINI'S 'IMPLACABLE SEVERITY'.

ROME, August 30th.

The newspapers are unanimous in approving Premier Mussolini's 'implacable severity'.

DANGEROUS POSSIBILITIES.

It is considered in London that a Note will also be sent to Italy urging great moderation towards Greece in view of the dangerous possibilities of the situation.

It is announced that the Allied Note to Greece reserves the rights announced in due course the penalties and reparations which it may be judged are necessary for the crime.

ITALIAN TROOPS CONCENTRATING.

PARIS, August 30th.

It is reported from Italy that the troops are concentrating in South Italy.

MEETING OF KU KLUX KLAN RAIDED.

ANGRY RIOTERS USE CLUBS, PISTOLS AND GAS BOMBS.

PENHAMBOY, New Jersey, August 30th.

A meeting of the Ku Klux Klan led to riots in which the police were obliged to keep back the crowd, numbering 5,000, who were attacking the building in which the Ku-Klux members were holding their meeting.

The mob made use of pistols, tear gas bombs and clubs, and smashed the windows of the hall and neighbouring buildings.

Horses, with which the firemen were attempting to assist the police, were soon put out action, but in the meanwhile, some klansmen, aided by the police, succeeded in escaping by back windows. Hand-to-hand encounters followed, in which there were many casualties, though none proved fatal. Many arrests have been made.

FINANCIAL CRISIS AT DUSSELDORF.

UNPRECEDENTED SEIZURE BY FRENCH.

COLOGNE, August 30th.

A financial crisis prevails at Dusseldorf as a consequence of the unprecedented seizure of 1,300 milliard marks, which were specially printed to pay week end wages, replacing the previous seizures.

The money was confiscated as it left the printing works and the town is comparatively moneyless. Most of the banks and shops are closed down.

INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS CONFERENCE.

U.S. DELEGATES REFUSE TO ATTEND.

GENEVA, August 30th.

The opening of the eleventh International Red Cross Conference was noteworthy for the absence of American Red Cross representatives. It appears that the American delegates who are at present in Paris are aggrieved by a report by the International Red Cross Committee warning the Conference that money should not be the predominant influence in the Conference decisions.

M. Gustave Ador, the President, in a speech said while they are most grateful for American Red Cross generosity they insisted on equal rights for all societies, and only moral, not financial consideration should count when the Conference considered the question of the fusion of the Geneva organisations with the new Paris League of Red Cross Societies.

A telegram was received by the Conference to-day from Mr. Bicknell, head of the American delegates, who declared that the latter would not attend at Geneva unless the Conference repudiated the International Committee's report.

MUNROE DOCTRINE.

AMERICAN POSITION RE-STATE.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 30th.

Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State, addressing the American Bar Association, re-stated the American position in regard to the Monroe Doctrine, as being at present deserving special emphasis. The Doctrine was not a policy of aggression but of self-defence. The Government of the United States reserved to itself the denunciation, interpretation and application of the Doctrine, which does not infringe the independence or sovereignty of the other American States. It is impossible for the United States to yield to any foreign power control of the Panama Canal or its communications, and it might be necessary for the United States in future to build and protect another Atlantic-Pacific Canal. The Doctrine does not stand in the way of Pan-American cooperation, and it does not offer any obstacle to wider international cooperation. Our people are still intent upon abstaining from participation in the political strife in Europe, preferring to reserve freedom of action, confident of their ability and readiness to respond to every future call to duty, but they would not shrink cooperation with other nations whenever there is a sound basis for such co-operation and a consciousness of a community of interests and aims.

They did so, and the aeroplane was "nose-diving". None of the passengers were in the least apprehensive, and certainly there was no panic. Those already in the after-cabin remained quietly in their seats.

The inquest was adjourned till September 11th.

FATE OF S.S. "MYLIE."

CHINESE MESS-BOY SOLE SURVIVOR.

SHANGHAI, August 31st.

The mystery of the fate of the steamer Mylie was solved yesterday by the arrival of the steamer Sinkiang, bearing the body of the Chief Engineer, who was picked up dead in an open boat after being adrift for six days.

Before the body of the Chief Engineer was taken aboard, a raft was sighted on which a solitary figure waved twice before falling exhausted.

The man proved to be a Chinese mess-boy. He was alive when found and was conveyed to hospital on the arrival of the Sinkiang. It is believed that the Mylie sank off Side Saddle Island. There is practically no hope of further survivors.

Firemen were powerless except to protect nearby shipping and property. Three barges loaded with kerosene became ablaze and drifted away down stream, leaving a trail of fire on two connected wharves and causing slight damage to another. A fireship floating down to Woosung, fortunately in midstream, burned itself out. The damage is believed to be considerable. The cause of the fire is so far unknown.

RUSSIAN COLONY IN SHANGHAI.

SHANGHAI, August 29th.

The Russian Refugee Relief Committee have forwarded to Dr. Naumov a comprehensive report on the situation at Shanghai, describing the growth of the Russian Colony from 700 before the war to 5,000 at present, of whom 250 are destitute.

The report emphasises the difficulties of securing relief funds in view of the fact that there are 300,000 refugees in China, near the frontiers.

The Committee are hopeful to repatriate willing refugees with the co-operation of the Soviet representative, but funds are lacking.

The report concludes by hoping that the League of Nations will find means to render prompt and effective assistance.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

PEKING, August 29th.

While many of the vernacular papers state that the Presidential preliminary election will be held on September 8th, it seems more likely that the date given yesterday, September 13th, will prove correct.

The Tientsin clique have informed Wu Ching-lien that they will do their utmost to assist him in carrying out the election.

Hitherto, about 30 members of Parliament have returned from Shanghai.

Kao Ling-wei and Dr. Wellington Koo returned to Peking this morning. They will attend a meeting of the Cabinet, which, to-day, is discussing the serious financial situation.

It is understood that Chang Hu is disappointed with the assistance he has so far received. The amount obtained is insignificant in view of the number clamouring for arrears of salaries and wages.

A NEW GOLFING CHAMPION.

"THE SUPREME ART OF MR. BOBBIE" JONES.

The success of Mr. "Bobbie" Jones in the United States Open Championship, writes a correspondent in the Observer, is a triumph for and a vindication of amateur golf throughout the world. He thus joins the very select band of famous amateurs—Mr. John Ball, Mr. Harold Hilton, Mr. Francis Ouimet, Mr. Jerome Travers, and Mr. "Chick" Evans—who have won supreme national titles. It is seven years since Mr. Evans won the American Open and twenty-nine since Mr. Hilton captured the British Open at Hoylake. Mr. Roger Wethered, the present British amateur champion, came very near to it at St. Andrews in 1921, when he tied with Jack Hutchison, and lost on the play off. Bobbie Jones, like Mr. Hilton before him, has accomplished the infinitely more difficult task of winning the Open before succeeding in the Amateur Championship.

The American has beaten the professional at their own game, and we cannot pretend to be other than hugely delighted. No doubt it will come as a blow to the army of paid golfers that an amateur, a young man twenty-one years of age, should be wearing the crown which they had begun to believe belonged exclusively to their class. Since the days of Mr. Ball and Mr. Hilton the gulf between amateur and professional golf has widened considerably; competition is fiercer and more extensive, and the standard of play much higher. The winning of an open championship brings with it a small fortune, in cash. Havers netted in a fortnight well over a £1,000, and he has scarcely commenced to reap the rich harvest that is waiting for him. In America cash values are different; men like Hagen, Sarazen, and Hutchinson would expect to make at least £25,000 in a year by winning the championship. To Mr. Bobbie Jones it means honour and glory without the cash.

"A HARD WORLD." As public entertainers it is conceivable that the position of the professional "princes" of the game will be disturbed by the success of one who only plays for the fun of the thing. "The American people," said Walter Hagen in a conversation I had with him at Tron, "have no use for losers; they only want winners. You may lose a championship by a stroke (as he did), and you are nobody. It is a hard world," he added rather pathetically. Well, at Inwood, Long Island, he was sixteen strokes behind the winner. It certainly is a hard world, and it has been made no kinder by Mr. Jones putting the fun among the rigors. But in their innermost souls these professionals would prefer that Mr. Bobbie Jones should win the championship than a hated rival.

The triumph of Mr. Jones has been long overdue, and it can be said with perfect truth that no worthier golfer ever became a champion. With the possible exception of Harry Vardon, there is no greater stylist in the world of golf than the new American champion. The play of Mr. Jones's swing—graceful, easy and harmonious—is a joy to behold. It fascinates, just as Vardon's swing has fascinated countless thousands of golfers during the last twenty-five years. Mr. Jones's swing is so exquisitely natural that it seems impossible for it to go wrong, and therein lies the secret of his golf. Vardon first brought news of this golfing wonder on his return to England from America in 1902. He said prophetically, "There is a boy called Bobbie Jones in America who some day will startle the world. I have never seen a boy who has impressed me more; he is a genius." Vardon and Ray played against the boy in many four-ball matches with different partners, and never once did the Englishmen succeed in beating him.

A REVELATION. I first met Mr. Jones at Hoylake in 1921, when the United States team defeated us soundly in the first of the series of international matches. His golf was a revelation. Standing with rest fairly close together, he puts the club-head behind the ball, takes one swift glance at the line, and without any preliminary waggle, the club is taken back to a horizontal position. There is neither fuss nor hurry. Even after the shot has been made the head is as immovable as a rock, with the eyes still gazing at the spot where the ball has been. The balance and poise of the body are immaculate. In those days Mr. Jones's temperament was a little uncertain; he was inclined to fret and fume, and lose his head when things went wrong.

Another wonderful young player is Bobbie Cruickshank, an Edinburgh golfer, now professional at the Essex Country Club, America, who I take a certain pride in having "discovered" three years ago when playing in the Eden Challenge Cup at St. Andrews. Cruickshank tied with Mr. Bobbie Jones for the American Championship last week, and lost by two strokes in the play off. When I first set eyes upon Bob Cruickshank I made bold to say in the columns of The Observer that he was a coming champion if ever there was one. Mr. Tolley was one of the few men he could not beat in this country. In the Amateur Championship at Muirfield in 1920, Cruickshank lost on the last green in the third round to the ultimate champion, Mr. Tolley, and in the French Championship at La Bourse, in the same year, the Scotsman was beaten, very unluckily, I shall always maintain, at the nineteenth hole—again by Mr. Tolley.

In stature and golfing style Cruickshank and Mr. Jones are very similar. They seem to possess a divine gift for hitting a golf ball an unconsciously long way in the most effortless manner imaginable. It is almost offensive in its very ease. At the end of 1921 Cruickshank went to the States to try his hand in a new sphere—that of professional golf. He proved his worth by last year winning the New York State Championship, and now he has tied for the major event. With the possible exception of Mr. Jones, there is no man I would rather have wished to capture the United States Championship than Bob Cruickshank, one of the most modest and delightful golfers that ever stepped on to a links.

There is a great measure of fatalism among Scottish people.—Mr. McLean, M.P.

In some quarters, anyone who makes any money in any way is guilty of a criminal offence.—Mr. Neville Chamberlain.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

A brilliant humorist says that we are prone to make fun of the two most serious things that can happen to us—getting married and getting hanged! By the same token, we often speak seriously of pleasant things, and flippantly of the unpleasant. The man who is in a good health simply says: "I'm quite well, thank you," but the man who is not quite well, what does he say? Usually, he says he is "off the mark," "fed up," "out of sorts," "below par," "frankly," or he says he "feels the blues," or feels "blue up." It is almost as though we were ashamed of being anything but quite well or right down ill.

Yet, at times, even the most fortunate amongst us feel not quite well. We have little spells when we are not so merry and bright as we ought to be. In the vast majority of such cases, we owe it to some slight derangement of the digestive system; some minor trouble of the stomach or liver, which may never become serious save by neglect. But even in the earliest stages, stomach and liver troubles are disagreeable. A good deal of pleasure seems to go out of the just as soon as we cease to enjoy our food, for after all, eating is one of life's simple pleasures. We cannot always trace the cause of our trouble. Indeed a dozen different things—connected with the weather, our work, or our mode of life—will upset our digestive system in a larger or lesser degree, with unpleasant consequences.

Sometimes, too, when the liver has been "ticked up," though we don't know why, it is not only unpleasant for us, but we are apt to make it more so for other people. Irritability is often a direct evidence of liver trouble as biliousness or constipation. Lastitude and humor may be just as good indications of a derangement of the stomach and liver as pain after eating or flatulence.

All these little troubles—which may be the forerunners of more serious ones—may be entirely avoided if you keep your stomach and liver in working order by the timely use of the herbal remedy, Mother Seigel's Syrup. This digestive tonic which is made from the medicinal extracts of more than ten varieties of roots, herbs and berries, has a truly remarkable effect on the organs of digestion—the stomach, liver and bowels—toning and strengthening them so that they are fully capable of performing their important functions, naturally and without strain.

When Mother Seigel's Syrup has restored these organs to a healthy state of activity, the maladies due to stomach and liver troubles are entirely avoided. Eating becomes a pleasure again, nor is it followed by flatulence or heartburn, or "headaches," "indigestion," and constipation take into the limbo of forgotten things, and you enjoy new energy—new life. Put it to the test to-day.—R322.
